

THE ALIEN AND THE WHEAT

Niccolò Cursale II B

THE ALIEN AND THE WHEAT

- In the city of Narwihes, the humans lived in fear and terror, because of a so-called alien, that lived in the wheat fields all around the city. The country was very poor, James Borny was the first to see this alien . One evening, while he was watering the wheat, he saw a huge yellow lizard escaping . Lots of people could see the alien so they started thinking about how to kill the alien. One day, a curious boy who loved adventures, woke up at dawn to go and visit the place where the horrible yellow lizard lived. He brought ropes and chains with him to fight the monster. But when he arrived there he didn't find it, then disappointed, he decided to leave but suddenly he felt someone touching him. He turned, and saw the alien , so scared, he fainted. As soon as he woke up, he found himself inside a cave, beside the terrible monster.

THE ALIEN AND THE WHEAT

- The alien told him if he could understand, but he didn't answer. After so many unanswered questions, the alien told him to stop. The alien changed his colour, because of the anger, he became red. The frightened boy pulled the ropes and chains out of his bag to fight against the lizard that was purple because of his fear. But the boy started to understand that the terrible lizard wasn't so bad and that he didn't feed on the wheat of his country. He started to talk to the lizard and he offered his friendship. The lizard for his happiness became blue.

THE ALIEN AND THE WHEAT

- The next day the boy and the lizard went to the city to show everyone that the lizard became yellow because of shyness and not because he had eaten the wheat. The people of the country slowly learned to accept it and to love it more and more, while the enormous and terrible lizard, because of happiness, became like the rainbow.

